Some merchants make efforts when they do not need to, and make no effort when effort is absolutely necessary.

YOUR ATTENTION

For one moment, please!

DO YOU WEAR PANTS?
Do they fit you?
Are you well supplied with them?

These are pertinent questions, but at this season of the year are to the point.

In looking over your wardrobe can't you see that there is quite a bit of wear in that coat and vest yet, if you only had a pair of trousers to go with them. (This is where economy which means wealth comes in.)

Before the arrival of our Fall Stock we are making a clean and clear sweep of all our Summer Trouserings

FROM $5 PER PAIR UP—SEE THEM.

It will pay you to walk 40 miles to get a pair of our $9 trousers for $7, or our $12 trousers for $9. And then again there are those $35 Scotch Cheviot Tweed Suits for $30, and only a few of our $25 ones for $20; and just wait until you see those elegant Venetian Overcoatings we are whacking out at $25.

There are no Shelf-worn or Back Numbers

in these goods; they are all this season's purchases, and will be made up with the same care in finish and workmanship I put on all my ordered work.

THEY WANT THE HALCYON

The Treasury Department at Washington Are Anxious to Capture the Boat.

Cholera Case Discovered in Minnesota—Reign of Terror in Venezuela.

Three Michigan Convicts Shot Dead—A Gay Lothario Tarred and Feathered.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—The treasury department is much exercised over the fact that it has no revenue cutter in Oregon or Washington waters to capture the schooner Halcyon, the famous smuggler, which sailed from Victoria last week carrying $30,000 worth of opium to be smuggled into the United States. It is thought she will put into the Columbia River and land her cargo. The treasury force is entirely inadequate to cope with the situation. There is only one revenue boat on the Pacific coast, the Oliver Wolcott, and she is in Puget Sound. The Albatross would be used, but her boilers are in such bad condition that they must be replaced before further service.

Asking a New Trial.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Russell, who was recently convicted of the murder of Bertha Erickson, employed as a servant in the Russell household, is the wife of a well-to-do lumber merchant, and has always moved in the "best society." During the trial her name was connected with that of a handsome young Swede who had formerly been attached to Miss Erickson, but who, it is alleged, had transferred his affections to Mrs. Russell. The points upon which the appeal for a new trial are based, involve three questions: First, whether the appointment of W. W. Erwin, a lawyer from another state, was an error; second, whether the alleged gross partiality of the district attorney and the alleged instigation by him of the publication of an inflammatory article invalidated the verdict; and third, whether it is not also invalidated by the district attorney's alleged action in representing himself by telephone to the prisoner as her attorney, while she was in jail, and thus obtaining from her private information prejudicial to her defense.

Illinois Firemen's Tournament.

OTTAWA, Ill., Aug. 30.—The annual tournament of the State Firemen's Association opened here to day with an attendance of over 800 delegates, representing branches of the association throughout the state. Several thousand visitors have taken up quarters at the different hotels, and it is estimated that the contests to be held at the driving park will be witnessed by not less than 15,000 people. The programme covers three days, and includes running, ladder climbing, hose coupling, and drills in every branch of a fireman's work. Three thousand dollars will be awarded in prizes to the most efficient companies and individuals. The citizens of Ottawa and the Driving Park Association have raised over $5000 for the entertainment of the visitors. A ball will be given this evening, and tomorrow night there will be a free banquet at which over 800 guests are expected to be present.

On Very Serious Charges.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 30.—The trial of Chancellor Creighton of the Methodist seminary in this city, who has been accused of a multitude of offences by a faction in the church that has long been opposed to him, will begin this afternoon. The trial will be presided over by Rev. L. E. Britt, of Nebraska city, the Chancellor having appealed to the Bishop to select an outsider to conduct the proceedings instead of the presiding elder of the district, Rev. Asa Sleeth, who, it was alleged, was in sympathy with the prosecution. The charges are very serious, and some of Creighton's accusers go so far as to connect his name with a murder that took place in Ohio nearly a score of years ago. The feeling on both sides is naturally very intense, and if the Chancellor is deprived of his position in the church a split in the local ranks of the church is likely to result.

Prohibition in the South.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 30.—Primary elections are being held throughout this state to-day on the prohibition issue. The interest in the movement has been intensified by a paragraph which recently appeared in the Charleston Zeitung to the effect that Gov. Tillman had promised that if the German bar-keepers would vote for Alexander Melchers, the reform candidate for sheriff, he, the governor, would use his influence in the next legislature against prohibition or high license. A full vote will be polled to-day, and the opposing interests are so evenly matched that the result is likely to be in doubt until the last vote is counted.

Columbian Half Dollars

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Col. Elliott F. Shepard closed a contract with Treasurer Seiberger of the World's Fair today for the first souvenir coins that will be delivered in New York. He will take $10,000 worth of the Columbian half dollars. The finance committee of the fair has decided to keep the design of the coins secret until they are ready for the market, in the belief that it will enhance their value in the eyes of the purchasers. What Col. Shepard has to do with the $10,000 souvenir half dollars is not stated.

An Honorable Public Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Judge James McMillan Shafter died in this city late last night after a long illness. The deceased, who was 76 years of age, held the position of Secretary of State in Vermont, his native state, for seven years. He later became speaker in the House of Representatives of Wisconsin. He served two years in the California State Legislature and was then appointed Supreme Court Judge. At the time of his death he was a regent of Stanford university. Judge Shafter leaves an estate valued at about a million dollars.

Cholera in Minnesota.

NORTHFIELD, Minn., Aug. 30.—An alleged case of cholera has caused considerable excitement at Castlerock, a small town 10 miles north of this place. The victim was Mrs. T. H. Gill, who died after an illness of four hours. Dr. Schmidt, the attending physician, said, "I have had charge of a great many cases in America and if this is not cholera there never was a case."

ROYAL CITY GLEANINGS.

Westminster's Water System is Going to Cost $400,000, With the $20,000 Demanded.

A Bid for Lulu Island's Trade—The Council Practising Rigid Economy.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 30.—The secretary of the water works commissioners, Mr. W. A. Duncan, says $20,000 in excess of the original estimate will be required to complete the water works, making the total $400,000.

The Board of Trade have petitioned the council to build a road connecting the North Arm and the Gravel road as an inducement to Lulu Island and Sea Island farmers to bring their produce into the city. The want of such a road diverts this trade to Vancouver, which city is making strong efforts to retain the business.

Westminster is beginning to economize. At a meeting of the council last night two members of the fire department were discharged. It is rumored that the turn of the police department will come next, and that an even more sweeping depletion will take place. The bobbies are all shaking in their shoes and looking bluer than ever.

The eastern train is three hours late again to-day. Land slides in the mountains are blamed for the trouble. The officers of the Westminster boating and canoeing club, elected last night, are, president, D. J. Munn; vice, E. H. Port; sec.-treas, W. B. Ransome; Capt., C. R. Towley; vice, F. C. Bloomfield; general committee: Spencer, Cherry, Martin, F. R. Glover, Vanstone, J. Forin and M. L. Smith.

Coroner Pittendrigh went down to Westham island this morning, where a dead body has been found floating in the water. The body could not be identified. An inquest will be held.

Death of Judge Church.

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—Judge L. R. Church died to-day. For years he represented Pontiac in the Quebec Legislature. He was appointed a member of the Executive Council, September 22nd, 1874, and was Attorney-General from that date till January, 1876, when he became Provincial Treasurer. He held that position until May, 1878, when the administration was dismissed by Lieut.-Governor Pelletier. He sat in the Commons for Ottawa from 1867 until 1871 when he retired. He was several times returned by acclamation; in 1876 he visited England and successfully floated a large provincial loan. He was a Liberal-Conservative in politics. When he retired from provincial politics he settled in Montreal and opened a law office, the firm being Church, Chapleau, Hall & Atwater. He continued practice until 1887, when he was raised to the Court of Queen's Bench, and retired about a year ago owing to ill-health.

They Fear a Rescue.

BRISTOL, Tenn., Aug. 30.—Talton Hall has less than four days to live. He is to die on Friday, in some manner. If his friends in Florida county, Ky., attempt to rescue him, the guards around the jail will shoot him. Fifty more soldiers with Winchesters were sent to Wise to-day, and the guard now numbers one hundred. Excitement runs high and the news which comes here over the wire is of a suspicious character. Pickets are stationed several miles from the jail and the other guards are in constant communication.

Hill Coming to Time.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 30.—No other line has followed the example of the Great Northern in withdrawing from the transcontinental association. Word came to day, however, from St. Paul and Spokane which will render it impossible for the Northern Pacific to retain its membership after the Great Northern. President Hill has definitely abandoned the policy of rate making in force on the transcontinental lines. He announces that he will make rates based on mileage alone, between St. Paul and the Pacific.

The Reliable Southern Remedy.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 30.—Frank Roakes, a well known lumberman, has been annoying the wife of a working man on Crispen Island for some time. Early yesterday morning he was decoyed from his home and treated to a coat of tar and feathers and driven from the island. He made his way to Brunswick, where he sought a chemist, who removed some of his feathery coating and the tar.

Shortened Their Terms.

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 30.—Three convicts named Humbley, Davis and Bullard attempted to escape from the penitentiary this morning. The guards fired upon them. The two first were fatally shot and Bullard instantly killed.

An Expensive Scorch.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 30.—Falkland, Jung & Borghets' brewery was burned this morning. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

LOWTHER BINDS HIS PARTY.

To Indemnify Great Britain for Expenses Incurred Fighting the Cholera.

Paris and St. Petersburg Sustain Alarming Attacks of the Terrible Plague.

Miss Jenny Hill the Famous Singer Has Consumption—A Fashionable Wedding.

LONDON, August 30.—Right Hon. James Lowther, speaking at Ramsgate to-day urged that public welfare demanded that Government, with or without warrant laws, should at once prohibit immigration while danger from cholera menaced Great Britain. He would pledge the support of the Conservatives to indemnify the Government for any action it might take in defence of public health against the cholera scourge. "This," declared the speaker, "was not a time to be pedantic or to stand on the letter of the law in face of a great public danger."

Footsteps of the Cholera.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Four deaths from cholera occurred yesterday, and 30 new cases are reported to-day.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 40.—One hundred and fifty-six new cases of cholera were reported yesterday, and 41 deaths from the disease.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Hon. James Lowther, speakin at Ramsgate to-day, urged that the public welfare demanded with or without the warrant of law that steps should at once be taken to prohibit immigration while danger from cholera was menacing Great Britain.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The bark Helena, from Hamburg for America, has been detained at Dover; two of the crew afflicted with cholera were landed and taken to the hospital.

More Suspects.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The bark Silvia, of Hamburg, is detained at Gravesend on suspicion of having cholera on board. Donald Currie & Co. announce that the steamers of the Castle line to the Cape will henceforth cease calling at Hamburg and Flushing, en route to Africa, and that they have ceased booking passengers for Moeire and Los Palmas.

Jenny Hill's Career.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The rumor of several weeks ago that Jenny Hill, the clever English character singer, is dangerously ill is confirmed. Her disease is undoubtedly consumption, and the London specialists agree that she cannot live in England a year. She is to sail for Australia next month, and is to spend the winter in that milder climate. It is said that one of Miss Hill's lungs has completely wasted. She is said to be wealthy. Jenny Hill last appeared in this country two seasons ago, when she made a hit and filled a very profitable engagement. She is over 50, and has been on the stage since her sixth year. She was married before she was sixteen.

Superintendent Gisborn Dead.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 30.—F. N. Gisborne, superintendent of the Government telegraph service, died at his residence last night at 12.

Frederic Newton Gisborne was born at Broughton, Lancashire, England, in March, 1824, and came of a family that resided in Lancashire and Yorkshire for many generations. He came to Canada in 1845, and after a brief period spent in farming he became an operator for the Montreal Telegraph Company, opening that company's first office in Quebec city. Telegraphy was of course in its infancy in 1847, and Mr. Gisborne's name has been honorably connected with its development since that time. He was general manager of the British North American Electric Telegraph Association, which united the maritime provinces and Canada by a telegraph line, and later took charge of the Nova Scotia government's telegraph system. There he conceived the idea of laying a submarine cable to Newfoundland, a project afterwards extended to laying a cable beneath the Atlantic. It was Mr. Gisborne who interested the late Cyrus Field in this project and to him certainly belongs the credit of originating submarine telegraphy. Mr. Gisborne has been superintendent of the Dominion Government's telegraph service since 1879.

Sold His Adopted Son.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 30.—The bona fide sale of a boy of 14 is reported from Quinze Lake, above Temiscamingue, an Indian named Rogers having sold his adopted son to a French hunter for $3. The bargain was made before a witness.

NANAIMO NOTES.

A Disappointed Crowd—Union Mined Coal for the Brewery.

NANAIMO, B. C., Aug. 30.—A large number of persons waited the arrival of the steamer Cutch last evening to satisfy their curiosity as to whether the captain would be furnished with a bill of health or not. At 12 o'clock she had not put in an appearance, so the crowd went home disappointed. The Dunsmuir arrived; the captain had taken the precaution to bring the necessary bill of health, so that the vessel was allowed to tie up as usual.

The eastern mails are now two days behind and are expected to arrive here by way of Victoria.

On the application of E. M. Yarwood, counsel for the plaintiff in the steamer Comox case, Magistrate Planta has promised to give his decision at 2 today. The majority of the citizens are watching this case and are anxious to hear the outcome. Public feeling is high against the way in which Vancouver is treating this city.

Health officer Dr. Praeger received a telegram yesterday from the vice-president of the E. & N. railroad stating that the private room at the depot is placed at his disposal for the purpose of vaccinating ladies, who, in the officer's opinion may need the operation. This has caused satisfaction in Nanaimo.

The committee appointed by the Trade and Labor Council to interview the manager of the Union Brewing Company in respect to the use of union mined coal, has been informed that there was some misunderstanding and that in future none but union mined coal would be used by the company. For some time past the brewery have been using Wellington coal, which has been brought to Nanaimo by rail and transhipped.

FOUR SEALERS SEIZED.

The Russians Capture Three Victorian and One San Francisco Schooners.

Crews Were Thrust Ashore on the Siberian Coast—Rescued by Bark Majestic.

The Victoria sealers Ariel, Rosie Olson and Willie McGowan, and one American schooner have been seized by the Russian Government, and their combined crews of eighty-four men are now in Royal Roads on the American bark Majestic, which rescued them from the barren Siberian coast, where they were thrust ashore.

The Majestic came into the roads at 3 o'clock this afternoon and half an hour later her master Captain Lawrence and Captain McLeod of the Ariel were ashore. From them the news was obtained. The schooners were all working together in the Behring Sea on the Russian side 35 miles from shore, when a Russian gun boat appeared. The four mentioned were taken while the Triumph, of this port, and another Victorian, warned by the former, moved away and escaped.

The four schooners were seized with their cargoes and the men put ashore Their men were picked up by the Mystic.

The Ariel is owned by a syndicate among the C.P.N. Co. employees. Gray & Munroe and Captain Keefe, her master, own the Rosie Olsen, while Wm. Moore, of North Sydney, owns the Willie McGowan.

A tug was chartered and the men will all be brought ashore this evening. At this hour (4:30 o'clock), Capt. McLeod is in consultation with Collector Milne. The seizures will at once be brought to the attention of the Government.

The San Francisco schooner is the C. H. White. The gunboat that made the seizure was the Sabiaca.

SAN JUAN HAPPENINGS.

Arrival of a Survey Party—The Indians Have Got Over Their Scare.

SAN JUAN, B. C., Aug. 30.—Mr. Fry's survey party arrived here to-day from Carmanah Point, where they have been working some weeks.

H.M.S. Nymphe has arrived from Victoria, also a sloop painted green, name unknown.

The Indians have at last summoned up courage to pay Victoria a visit.

The weather here at present is stormy, but the sky is clear overhead.

Marriage in High Life.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Sir James Meshiers, of Blackadder, in Berwickshire, Scotland, late lieutenant-colonel in the First Battalion of Black Watch, Royal Highlanders, and deputy lieutenant for the County of Berwick, was married to-day at St. George's, Hanover Square, to Miss Amy Green, daughter of the late William Arthur Green of San Francisco. Minister Lincoln and many other Americans and many English people of the highest standing attended the reception.

Peculiar Family Relations.

New York Tribune: Several decisions just rendered disclose peculiar marital and family relations. One of the strangest is a case in Louisiana in which a dead man's property was equally divided between his two wives. Francis Jermann, a native of Germany, married in that country in 1852 a woman named Josephine Attinger. A few years later he left his wife and went to New Orleans, where he assumed the name of Francis Germaine, and married a woman of that city. He died in 1873, after having acquired considerable property. His first wife did not know that he had lived in New Orleans, or had married, until several years ago, when she began a legal contest to obtain a part of his property. The endeavor to prove that Francis Jermann was the New Orleans Germaine was made harder by the fact that some of the German witnesses said that Jermann married in 1852 a Josephine Zimmerman, and the first wife had to prove that she was sometimes known by that name because her father was a "zimmerman" or carpenter. The Supreme Court, which has twice passed upon the case, has now at last decided that the proof of identity and of the first marriage is sufficient, and awards to the first wife half of her husband's property. Under the peculiar code of Louisiana and the old French and Spanish laws the second half will go to the second wife, as she married in good faith, believing that her husband had not previously been married. The law is founded on the principle that the deceiving husband forfeited everything by his misconduct in favor of the deceived wife.

The French papers in Quebec discuss eagerly a cablegram from Rome to the effect that the papal authorities, at the instance of the French Government, have remonstrated with Great Britain in the affair of the Manitoba separate schools, and a high dignitary of the cardinal's palace, to whom the dispatch has been shown, has declared to a reporter that he considers it both unreasonable and untrue.

The organization of a political party for Canada, having the prohibition of the liquor traffic as the groundwork of its existence, has been completed at Toronto. The members of the new party are required to pledge themselves not to give their votes or influence to any candidate for Parliament whose party is not pledged to complete the suppression of the liquor traffic, and further, to support the party making the prohibition scheme a party issue.

On Sunday night it was very cold in Manitoba and great anxiety was felt lest frost should come, but the sky was cloudy and quite a strong wind blowing, which prevented the frost settling. The thermometer did not get below 40 around Winnipeg or in Southern Manitoba, but in the northwestern part of the Province and the Territories frost was registered, but no damage to the grain resulted. Monday was fair and the farmers made the best of their time getting the grain cut. Even if the frost does come now the grain cannot be very seriously damaged.

Mr. Betts has formed a new N.W.T. executive, but he himself will not be a member of it. According to present intentions the new Government will be composed as follows: Hugh S. Cayley, member for Calgary, leader; Thomas McKay, member for Prince Albert; Daniel Mowat, member for South Regina; Joel Reaman, member for Yorkton. Mr. Betts had been accused of trying to defeat the old executive because he wanted office, and it is understood that his action in not taking a position on the new executive, which he has been asked to form, is to show that a desire for office was not the motive that prompted him.

The commission on the liquor traffic has concluded its investigations as far as relates to the Maritime Provinces. Evidence has been taken at Halifax, North Sydney, Truro and Yarmouth, in Nova Scotia; at St. John, St. Stephen, Fredricton and Moncton, in New Brunswick; and at Charlottetown and Summerside, in P. E. I. While the commissioners have visited a great many other towns and personally inquired into the workings of the laws governing the liquor traffic that obtain in each a great mass of information has been secured, most of it of a highly important character. The taking of evidence will be resumed in Quebec on September 6.

Anarchy in Caracas.

CURACOA, W.I., Aug. 30.—Maracaibo on the northwest, like Puerto Cabello on the north, and Ciudad Bolivar on the Orinoco river, has fallen into the hands of the Venezuelan rebels. The exciting news reached here to-night from Caracas, and with it came the still more sensational announcement that Luciano Mendoza has declared himself dictator of Venezuela, thus seeking to oust Gen. Urdenata, who himself took command of the fleet which was dispatched to retake Puerto Cabello. As soon as Urdenata's fleet had sailed Mendoza announced himself as ruler and established a new government over Venezuela. As a preliminary step to assuming the dictatorship, he first had ex-President Vilegas thrown into prison, and then issued a decree expelling him from the country. The people of Caracas are said to be thoroughly frightened by the situation. The city is almost in a condition of anarchy. The aspect of affairs fills the foreign residents with alarm, and the houses of the foreign ministers are being beseiged by foreigners who insist that their governments shall send warships to Venezuelan waters to protect their interests. All the ministers in Caracas have cabled their governments asking for further protection. It is expected that Gen. Crispo will shortly make his attack on the capital.

Picturesque Hawaii.

The scenery of windward Hawaii is charming and picturesque in the extreme. Three huge volcanic mountains—Mauna Loa, Mauna Kea and Hualalai—rear their snowcapped domes against the sky to the height of 14,000 feet, forming a triangle toward the center of the island, their slopes clothed with dense forests of richest tropical growth, and grassy plains which trend gradually away to the blue Pacific. They are seamed with numberless ravines or "gulches," not to call them "canyons," and down each a river flows to the sea, varying in width from 100 to 2,000 feet. Many are nearly a mile wide. The waters of some, small and quiet, glide peacefully between meadowy banks to their final destination.

Others, fierce, impetuous mountain torrents, hemmed in by high, precipitous rocks, dash headlong over bowlder and precipice till they lose themselves in the dimpling ocean. Nearly all are liable to sudden and tremendous freshets. Cascades and waterfalls leap from the hills in all directions, and everywhere trees and rocks are covered with exquisite ferns and trailing parasites of all shades and kinds. The "gulches" widen out at their extremities and the sea sweeps into them with drowsy, booming music. Many a journey taken is but a continuous series of descents and ascents across these "gulches."

Thus on the road between Hilo and Laupahaehae no fewer than sixty-five streams must be crossed in a distance of thirty miles. Having ridden for a few hundred yards along a lofty upland, the brink of a stupendous precipice is suddenly reached, a murmur of water ascends from the depths below, and in front is the equally perpendicular precipice on the other side of the tiny valley. A bird would skim across in a few seconds; poor wingless man has to trust to the unshod, surefooted beast under him to scramble up and down the narrow, scarcely winding tracks cut out on the faces of the mountains.—Asiatic Quarterly.

The Railroad Refused.

"A great many years ago," said an attorney, "our road had an unnecessary damage suit brought by an exceedingly faithful and competent engineer, whose arm had been torn off by the driving wheels. It was almost a clear case against us from the start, there having been a wreck, wherein the engine was dumped into the river, the engineer thrown from his cab and drifted into the revolving wheels of his engine. I always thought the matter might have been compromised but for the brusquerie of the management. We had a great battle in the courts and were compelled to pay at last the largest amount of damages ever recovered for a similar claim—$50,000. Well, sir, after that man had received his money he came to me and said:

"'See here, I don't know what to do with this money. Just you build or buy me a good home and give me a lifetime job in the roundhouse and I'll return the amount of my damages. I am a plain man, with steady, simple habits, and I would rather work for a living than be tempted into extravagance and perhaps dissipation by this money which I never earned.'"

"And of course you snapped him up?" said a brother attorney.

"Of course I did nothing of the kind. To have a man in our employ who could not be discharged by the company would be disastrous to discipline and a dangerous precedent. Do you see?"

And they all saw. But an unbeliever who sat near by said to himself, "Rats!"—St. Louis Republic.

Effective Persuasion.

There had been an affray among some men and one of them was hurt. A trial took place, and an old clergyman who had seen the fight was called as a witness.

"What was Salson doing?" was the first inquiry.

"Oh, he was slashing around," replied the old man.

"Well, sir, what is that?"

"He was just knocking about him here and there."

"Now, sir, tell us plainly what did he do to this man?" asked the lawyer, with a note of vexation in his voice.

The clergyman thought a moment and then answered slowly:

"Why, he enticed him."

"Enticed him! How?"

"He enticed him with a crowbar. He used the crowbar to persuade the man, to entice him, and by a series of pokes and blows he succeeded," concluded the reverend gentleman.—Exchange.

A Long Vacation.

A London schoolboy brought to his teacher a letter from a physician stating that "this boy is unfit to attend school for 304 days." The long and rather exact period named aroused the teacher's suspicions, and he discovered that the physician had written "3 or 4 days." This the boy had changed to "304 days."—Yankee Blade.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

I have heard complaints from the churches in the neighborhood of the E. & N. Railway on Sunday evenings of the interminable ringing of the bell. The ringing is doubtless necessary and wise in the interests of public safety, but I should be glad to know for the comfort of the worshippers in the churches that such could be dispensed with during divine service. If the directors of the N. & N. would take this matter into their consideration and suggest a plan out of the trouble, they would confer a boon upon many on the Sabbath evening.

Fashion reigns supreme. Sometimes a roval lady suggests the fashion in dress, custom and etiquette, but that fashion once set, however ridiculous it appears, it rules with despotic sway. The long, flowing costumes of the society belles of Victoria are very graceful and beautiful, and they are also most useful. Not a few brush the sidewalks most carefully, and thus aid the merchant in cleansing our streets. To a prosaic mind like my own, the "sweet things in lavender, pale blue and white," would be more economically used if made a little shorter. Our sidewalks are, shame to relate it, the receptacles of quantities of saliva from the smoker and chewer, and fair ladies' lovely costumes ill assort with this product from Cuba and Virginia.

I believe that there is an official appointed by the Dominion Government to inspect our weights and measures. I expect that his office is not a sinecure, as the continued growth of the province causes fresh scales and weights to be purchased and tested. Should he not, however, make a tour of inspection over his district with a view to maintaining the purity of the standards of our weights and measures? Further, is it a part of his official duties to see that each article marked with weight should be actually what it professes to be. The 2lb, 3lb, 4lb, and 6lb cans of beef, tongue and lard are never full weight and the purchaser is thereby defrauded. Tubs of butter and boxes of cheese are often one and two pounds short weight. Usually this latter loss falls upon the retailers, but there is no need for any to bear the loss. Full weight and measure bears witness to a nation's morality.

There have been several orchards robbed in the neighborhood of Spring Ridge. Idle youths and boys are the perpetrators of the petty robberies, and the guilt of some is morally conclusive. Such lads are being watched pretty closely and if caught will be prosecuted. Several orchards have been robbed, and the vandals have not been content with filching the fruit, but must needs break the limbs of the trees as well. Flogging is too good for some of them.

"BAGGING" A BANDIT.

A Blow-hard Goes Out to Capture, but Returns With His Head in Captivity.

There are Californians living today, and not old men either, who recall having met the notorious outlaw, Juan Muriata, while there is not a schoolboy between San Diego and the Oregon line who has not a story, more or less mythical, to tell of the blood-thirsty Mexican bandit.

The scene of Juan or Goaquin Muriata's exploits was in southern California, where there were people of his own race who regarded him as an idol, and who were ever ready to warn him and to shield him when the officers of the law were on his track.

There was nothing in the character or appearance of this swarthy, redhanded wretch to excite admiration. The best of us have "a sneaking sympathy" with Rob Roy MacGregor, Robin Hood, Dick Turpin and outlaws of that stamp who are credited with daring, and who are popularly supposed to have plundered the rich to help the poor. But Juan Muriata was as devoid of nobility of character as the mountain wolves with whom he was often forced to find refuge. He robbed to satisfy a savage craving for plunder and murdered to quench an innate thirst for blood.

"EMPTY YOUR POCKETS, OR I FIRE!"

Rewards were offered for the destruction or capture of this man, but with kindred spirits among the Mexicans and Americans, ready to aid and warn him, he long set the authorities at defiance, and at times he cleverly turned the tables on his pursuers, while once at least he showed magnanimity.

Jake Williams had been a burly Bowery boy, and a ward politician, and a rounder in New York city before he went west to seek his fortune. He was not long on the Pacific coast before he had established a reputation as "a terror" in a barroom fight, but as fists were too slow and primitive a method of combat Jake Williams, with a ready adaptability, fell in with the methods of his associates and soon developed unusual skill in the use of the pistol.

"We don't want no man for sheriff of Kern county that won't pledge himself to clean out Juan Muriata;" this is what the people of the lower San Joaquin valley said on the eve of one of their nominating conventions.

Jake Williams was not modest; he had brought with him from his native city an intense yearning for office and a firm belief that there was no office in the gift of the people that he could not fill with profit to himself, if not credit to his constituents.

"If I'm 'lected sher-eef of Kern county," said Jake to the delegates whom he was treating before the convention met, "I'll run the office for nixy if inside o' two months I don't fotch the head o' this Muriata into this bar in a bag and thump it onto the floor!"

Whether it was Mr. Williams' forceful manner and the free use of oaths, his liberal dispensation of whisky or the belief that he was the right man for the place that influenced the convention we cannot pretend to say, but certain it is he was unanimously nominated and overwhelmingly elected to the position he so much desired.

Jake Williams certainly had physical courage. He banked on the fact that he was a freeborn American citizen, and that the man he had sworn to bag was "a greaser," so that he was not lacking in the essential confidence when one morning he mounted his horse and rode south toward the Cajon pass, where the deputies whom he had enlisted for the hunt were to rendezvous.

A few miles south of Kern river Sheriff Williams was joined by a horseman, who came over from the direction of the Sierra to the east.

This man, though superbly mounted, was dressed in the black flowing gown of a missionary priest. His smooth shaven face was half concealed by a broad brimmed slouched sombrero, and from his neck hung a rosary of silver beads terminating in a golden crucifix.

"Heaven bless thee, my son!" was the salutation of the priest, as he brought his horse alongside the sheriff's and turned in the same direction.

"You'll have to chin English to me," said Jake Williams. "I don't go much on greaser lingo, and I wouldn't if I could."

"There is much to be learned in English," said the priest, with a quiet bow and speaking with a pleasing accent. "Do you ride for the Cajon pass?"

"That's where I'm bound," said the sheriff.

"Ah, that is also my destination. You sit your horse like a soldier, and no doubt belong to the garrison at Los Angeles?"

"Naw! I'm the sheriff o' Kern county," said Jake.

"Sheriff Williams?"

"Yes, that's my name. How do you like it?"

"I like the name and the man," said the priest pleasantly. "I have heard of you as a brave American, and I shall be pleased, if you precede me in trying the aguardiente, to drink to your good health and prosperity."

The padre, without checking his horse, produced a bottle of native brandy from his saddlebags and handed it to the sheriff, who took a long, gurgling drink, wiped his thick red beard on the back of his big freckled hand and at once felt more amiable.

The priest went through the motion of drinking and then resumed the conversation. The sheriff's tongue limbered up, and he told his companion that he was on his way to find Juan Muriata and bring his head down to Kern in a bag.

"Did you ever see the outlaw?" asked the priest.

"No; but I've had him described so often that I feel as if I could tell him by his track or by his shadder," said Jake.

"They tell me he is brave," said the priest.

"Brave, nawthin," rejoined Mr. Williams. "He ken skeer wimmin and chillen, but I guess he'd kinder crawl and hunt his hole if he was invited to look into the bore of a six shooter with an American engineerin it from behind."

Cajon pass was a long day's ride from Kern, so the sheriff did not object when, at noon, his companion suggested a rest for an hour, during which they could eat some lunch, "sample" the aguardiente again and let the horses feed.

The animals were staked in a charming grove by a beautiful spring a short distance from the trail. After lunch and another drink, both of which the priest provided, Jake Williams began to boast again, and he poured out the vials of his wrath and contempt on the bandit and all Mexicans.

"I am a Mexican, and you must not talk so before me," said the priest firmly.

"I'll talk as I —— please," shouted Jake, who felt quite safe in the presence of this man of God.

"No, senor, as I please," said the priest, and as he said it the hands that had been under his long black coat flew out, and Mr. Williams found two pistols pointed at his breast.

"Sheriff Williams, drop your belts, empty your pockets, and do not touch a pistol, or I fire! Come, no delay, man! Ah, that shows your good sense. Now, step back and stand against that tree. That's it."

"Who in blazes, are you?" asked the sheriff, as he tottered back in obedience to the command of the other.

Instantly the black cassock fell away from the sinewy form of the priest, and taking up the rope that had girdled his waist, he said with a sneer:

"I am Juan Muriata at your service!"

"And what are you a-goin to do with me?" asked Jake Williams, when he could get his breath.

"I am going to send you back to Kern with your head in a bag. Resist and I'll put the head and body in separate parcels," said the bandit.

Sheriff Williams did not resist; indeed, he was in no condition to do anything that required coolness and reason.

That night, while still the bars of Kernville were doing a thriving business, two horses halted before the principal saloon, and a man called in, "Here's your sheriff!" and then galloped away.

Men rushed out with lanterns. They found a man seated on a horse with his arms bound behind him and a bag tied over his head, and to the bag was pinned a bit of paper on which were penciled the words:

"With Senor Muriata's compliments. Senors, you had better try another sheriff!"

And as Jake Williams "lit out" the very next day, the people of Kern were forced to act on the outlaw's suggestion.

"I Am Sam"——

"As you gentlemen who fought on the other side are no doubt aware," said the handsome ex-Confederate colonel, with a smile, "we rebels held the battlefield of Chickamauga.

"I was a captain at this time, and for the first and only time in my military career I found myself detailed to bury the dead. If none of you have ever had this work to do you can form no idea of its appalling horrors.

"It is said that 'familiarity breeds contempt,' but an eternity of familiarity could never make me indifferent to the sickening, heartrending sights of a battlefield after the struggle is over and one looks at the many postured dead in cold blood.

"Of course there were no coffins, not even for our own boys, who covered the ground by hundreds. We dug separate trenches for the men in blue and gray, laying them side by side in long, stark rows, and then covering them up.

"But that day we buried one young Yankee by himself, and this is how it was:

"We were moving over the ground along the slope so heroically held by Thomas' men, when one of the detail called me to him.

"He was bending over a handsome youth in blue, whose yellow head rested on his arm as if he were asleeep.

" 'What is it?' I asked of the man.

" 'Just look at that, captain,' he said.

"I knelt down and found that the poor fellow's left arm had been torn off by a shell. He evidently felt that the end had come, and realized perhaps that there was nothing on his person by which he could be identified. With a splinter of wood, evidently dipped in his own heart's blood, he managed to scrawl on the stock of his gun the words, 'I am Sam'— The last word was no doubt meant for 'Samuel,' and intended to be followed by his full address, but death came before he could finish it.

"The whole thing was so touching, so suggestive, that myself and men were affected as if we had taken sudden colds, and let me say we were familiar with death.

" 'I reckon, captain,' said one of the men, and he evidently voiced the sentiment of most of his comrades, 'that we'd better give the poor feller a restin place by hissel'.'

"I coughed my consent, and under the oak at the foot of which he lay we made him a separate grave. The soldiers covered it tenderly up, and I cut in the bark all we knew of the poor feller, with the date of his death:

" 'I am Sam'—, a Federal soldier; killed at Chickamauga, September 20, '63."

A Manly Scot.

The Scotch crofters are proverbially "poor and honest," and they have a manly aversion to outside relief. Their condition is entirely due to the barbarous system of land tenures; but this is not what I started out to say.

Recently one of these crofters met with a series of misfortunes that would have taken the heart out of any man not a Scotchman. The horse on which he depended for employment died on his hands, and he had no means of replacing him.

After two weeks the minister, apprehending that the poor man, who had a large family, might be in want, paid him a visit, and without offending his humble parishioner's native pride he tried to find out the condition of affairs, but without success.

He called again in a few days and bluntly stated his fears. Donald Ross—that was the man's name—burst into tears and sobbed:

"Oh, dominie! I'll dee afore I take aid from the parish."

"But that is foolish," said the minister. "remember your wife and children, my good man."

"I canna forget them," said the crofter, "and I thank you for your kindness; but I'll take no relief so lang's I hae somethin by me."

"But what have you to buy food with?" asked the minister.

"Weel, I'm expectin that the times'll mend, and I'll get work, but in addition to that my gude wife has nineteen pence to the fore, and I haven't yet sold the skin of the horse." ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

A Feminine Casablanca.

The workmen of a new line of electric lights in a western city began to dig a posthole in front of a Dutchman's dwelling, when the master of the house came out and forbade them to continue the work.

After a good deal of wrangling the men announced that they could not waste their time in talking, and prepared to set to work. Thereupon the Dutchman called his wife, and with a dexterous and unexpected movement succeeded in flinging over the hole the men were digging a large, flat slate, upon which he established the lady.

"Now, Gretchen," he said, "dat ish vhere you shtands till I comes back mit ein enjunction."

With many charges to his wife not to stir from that slate until his return, he departed to get the injunction which should force the workmen to cease their labors, and the stolid Dutch frau stood like a statue of immobility, her hands on her hips and defiance painted upon her face.

No sooner had the husband disappeared than the leader of the gang directed his men to take the slate with the frau on it and lift it from its place. It was a pretty severe tug, but it was accomplished, and with perfect politeness the corpulent lady was set to one side as if she had been a fat teapot on a salver.

The work of digging then went merrily forward, and while the Dutch wife held to the letter of her husband's orders with silent fidelity the men set up the tall pole. It was well in its place when the householder was seen returning in breathless haste, waving in his hand the coveted injunction.

When he came panting up and saw what had been done, he was overcome first with astonishment and then with wrath.

"Vy vas you not stood on dat hole?" he demanded of his wife.

"It vas on dis stone dat you vas puts me," she answered.

He looked at her in helpless indignation a moment and then cried:

"I vas not mean dat you shtand on dat stone ven dat hole vas carried avay!"——Youth's Companion.

THE CZAR'S ORGAN AND BRYNO.

The News make haste to explain that it did not intend to censure the Czar in the Bryno case. It "did not blame anyone." The unfortunate man Bryno, it says, was simply "a victim of a combination of circumstance." "The city health officials"—the Czar's organ remarks—"were still in charge when Bryno was placed in the hospital, so that any blunder committed was on their part and should be made good by the city." We hope our contemporary is not trifling with facts in throwing out this insinuation. The question is, are the city health authorities responsible for the burning of Bryno's certificates and money? It is a matter of very little consequence whether they were "in charge" or not when Bryno, either of his own accord and ignorantly, or through the criminal advice of a physician, became incarcerated in a smallpox prison while suffering from malarial fever. There is very little doubt, assuming Mr. Bryno's statement to be true, that Davieism was supreme at the time the unfortunate Australian's clothing and valuables were burned, and there is absolutely no doubt that the autocrats were at the height of their power when the "exposed" Bryno was sent unfumigated to the suspect station. Reports are being prepared, we understand, by Dr. Richardson and Dr. Hasell on the Bryno case. From them and from Mr. Bryno the truth will be elicited. We care not whose ox is gored; we want the truth. If it is true as stated by Mr. Bryno, that his clothing, containing money and valuable papers, was burned at the quarantine hospital, the parties responsible—be they city or Government employees—should be made to recoup the unfortunate victim of official ignorance and stupidity.

MINERALS AND ROADS.

Almost every day there is fresh evidence of the great mineral wealth of the East and West Kootenay districts. New veins are frequently discovered, and the stories of their richness sometimes read like fairly tales. No doubt some of them are overdrawn, but making due allowance for exaggeration, there is every reason to look upon the Slocan, Lardeau, Fish Creek and other newly-explored districts as wonderfully rich in minerals. There is evidence that the lower portion of the Okanagan district is of much the same character. And while the southeastern corner of the province is attracting most attention just now, we confidently believe that in the not distant future other parts of it will have their turn. Some day there will be fresh discoveries of gold in the Cariboo region that will remind the world of the excitement that once before centered there. The same might safely be predicted of the district in which the Peace River finds its head waters, and of some portions of Vancouver Island. British Columbia's mineral wealth is still a very slightly known quantity, and it will in all likelihood remain so for a good many years to come, for the reason that some of its richest fields are difficult to reach. The Canada Western Railway should in a few years open up some very promising mineral districts. Accessibility is all that various good mineral regions need in order to development. Those who have paid much attention to the reports of new discoveries in some parts of the province will have noticed very often that coupled with these were complaints of the want of trails and roads. These are especially numerous in the West Kootenay and Okanagan districts. It is surely not a good policy to starve any good mineral district in respect of means of transport, which is absolutely essential to development. The Government yearly asks for and is granted large sums for roads, bridges, etc., in the different districts, and if these were expended in a business-like way there would be fewer complaints of the lack of such public improvements. The great trouble is that the Government persists in treating these appropriations as a huge electioneering fund, being more anxious to secure votes than to develop the resources of the province. It is aided in this scheme, we may remark, by the singular carelessness of the House with regard to oversight of the public expenditure. In every other province in Canada a public accounts committee each session makes a careful investigation into the expenditure of money voted by the representatives of the people; but in British Columbia such enquiry seems to be regarded as unnecessary. That fact may be taken as accounting for the absence of public improvements in many places where they should be found if only the appropriations were rightly used.

POLITICS AT REGINA.

The change of Government in the Northwest Territories is in one of its aspects somewhat ludicrous, and in others does not seem calculated to reflect creditably on the Assembly. As previously noted, the combination which succeeded in ousting the Haultain executive was made up of distinct groups. The first, and no doubt the controlling group, is that of the disgruntled politicians who made up the Lieut.-Governor's "advisory board" under the old regime of irresponsible government. For the loss of that enviable position and the change of the system of Government these gentlemen have now taken revenge on Mr. Haultain and his colleagues, to whose efforts the change was mainly due. The second part of the victorious combination consists of the supporters of the separate school system, who voted against the Government because the recently passed school act contained no provision for separate schools. Next come the men of the Saskatchewan district, who believed their district slighted because it was given no representative in the executive. In addition to these there were probably a few politicians who wanted a change of Government in order that they might benefit by it personally. All these voted against the Government on Mr. Betts' amendment to supply declaring "that the action of the executive in regard to the representation of Saskatchewan and in other respects has been such as to destroy the confidence of this House in them as advisers of the Lieutenant-Governor," and shortly after on Mr. Cayley's amendment, "that the executive does not retain the confidence of this House." In consequence of this vote the Haultain executive felt obliged to resign, no doubt much to the gratification of Mr. Betts and other members of the old Advisory Board, who had in their day held office in the face of repeated motions of non-confidence voted by the old Council. The men who opposed the establishment of responsible government must have rarely enjoyed exercising the power conveyed by responsible government on those who were instrumental in bringing about the change. We should fancy, however, that the people will not enjoy the spectacle quite so much. The ludicrous aspect of the situation is supplied by the fact that Mr. Mowat, one of the members of the new executive, is the author of the school bill against which the separate school party "kicked" so vigorously. Strange that Mr. Mowat and the separate school party should have combined almost immediately to punish the executive for another offence, and that they should now be found allied so closely under the new regime. Truly politics at times brings together queer bedfellows.

GLADSTONE AND THE LORDS.

One of the most interesting passages in Mr. Gladstone's speech in the debate which preceded the overthrow of the Salisbury Government was that relating to the House of Lords and its prospective attitude on the Home Rule bill. There was naturally much speculation as to the action of the new Government in the event of the Lords rejecting the bill, and although Mr. Gladstone did not undertake to say what his Government would do in such a case, he very plainly intimated that one thing it would not do. It would not follow the example of the Melbourne Ministry and allow its Irish legislation to be either mutilated or finally burked by the House of Lords. Mr. Gladstone thus spoke on the subject:—

"This Parliament, it seems to be assumed, will soon address itself seriously, as indeed I hope it will, and I am sure it will, to the question of the Irish claim for self-government in all Irish affairs. The bill, it may be anticipated, will pass through this House, if, as we believe, the sentiments of the decided majority are in favor of its general purport. If so, from this House it will go to the House of Lords, and I cannot wonder at my hon. friend the member for Longford experiencing some anxiety as to its further destiny, because undoubtedly there was a period within my recollection—viz., in the time of the Government of Lord Melbourne—when there was a majority of this House favorable to a liberal policy towards Ireland, but when that majority found itself constrained to be content with passing certain measures through this House year after year, and to send them to the House of Lords to be fatally mutilated or altogether rejected. That being so, I must venture to say that I think that when such a bill has passed this House, springing as it will do out of a tenacious controversy which has lasted for seven years, and which has been carried on with such zeal and ability upon all sides, and with such diversity of circumstances and such careful consideration of details—I think that when that bill goes before the House of Lords it may be justly said that never will the Lords have had before them a greater question than on that occasion, never a greater question as to the Empire at large — never will they have had before them a greater question, possibly, as to themselves. Into this subject I do not wish to enter. I do not think any beneficial result could arise from my taking such a course, and my hon. friend did not invite me to enter into it. But he did invite me to signify my opinion as to what would be the position and the duty of the Liberal party in the unhappy, deplorable event of the rejection of such a measure by the other House of Parliament. I won't argue now upon the probability of that rejection. (A laugh.) I am very sorry to find even a single exhibition upon a matter of this kind, of anything like levity. I am sure that even any member who may be inclined to look at the question from the point of view which party supplies, will feel that before we emerge from this complex situation circumstances may have happened which will be no laughing matter at all. (Opposition cheers.) It will be our plain and absolutely primary duty to avoid language and all sentiments which may tend to aggravate any of the difficulties attending the settlement of this great question. The only reply I can give to my hon. friend when he asks me what will be the duty of the Liberal party in such a case, is this: I do not think that a repetition in such of the transactions of the Melbourne Government between 1835 and 1841 would be at this moment either politic or just; and on this ground in particular, that in our view at least, the sentiment of the people of this country towards the people of Ireland has undergone a fundamental change. If I am asked what will be the duty of the Liberal Government in such a contingency I must say in the first place that I cannot in words fully express the earnestness and intensity with which I desire that no such contingency should arise. If it should arise, I must also admit that I cannot entertain any doubt as to the duty of the Liberal Government. It would be impossible for any such Government to regard the rejection of such a bill as terminating its duty. As far as the substance of that measure was concerned, the obligations of the Liberal Government would utterly forbid acquiescence, and their obligations to promote the settlement of that great subject would remain unweakened and unchanged. I do not think, under present circumstances, it is right to go beyond that general declaration."

THE ROUTLEDGE CASE.

TO THE EDITOR:—A very material error crept into your police court report yesterday in the case of W. H. Routledge. It was Mr. Helmcken who applied for the adjournment and not myself as reported by you, and I simply consented on the defendant being released on his own recognizances.

J. P. WALLS.

Victoria, Aug. 30.

A CORRECTION.

TO THE EDITOR:—In your issue of the 25th inst., I came upon an old friend in Dr. Paterson's account of Dr. A. M. Ross and his vaccination marks. The story has obtained a wide circulation, but unfortunately the real facts have not been so widely read, so if you will allow me I will give them very briefly.

Dr. Ross, soon after boarding the train was asked if he had been vaccinated. He answered, "yes, fifty-one years ago." He was then requested to bare his arm, which he at once did. After inspection no attempt was made to revaccinate him, and he proceeded on his way. On this slender foundation newspapers, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, published sensational accounts of the affair, asserting that recent marks were found on his arm.

Dr. Ross at once published a letter of denial, in the Montreal Witness, which concludes thus: "I pronounce that a malicious lie, and the stab of an assassin. I will go before three or more physicians of your own selection, and submit to their examination. If they certify that I have three vaccine marks, or two vaccine marks, or if they prove that the mark I acknowledge (made half a century ago) is a recent mark, then I will at once enter the smallpox hospital, and serve for six months as a common servant, waiting upon smallpox patients, and performing the most menial duties without charge."

Of course this challenge was never answered, but the garbled story, after nearly seven years, still survives. Apart from anything else, however, the story is improbable because a doctor of Scotch descent, who wanted surreptitious "protection," and who was not smart enough to vaccinate himself on the right arm, or on the leg, would certainly be utterly unworthy of his ancestry.

My authority for the above statements is conclusive. It will be exhibited with pleasure to anyone who cares to apply to WM. GREIG.

Mothers
Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

THE SEALSKIN MARKET.

An Expert Discourses Upon the Subject in its Different Phases.

Mr. Geo. Barber of San Francisco, who is here for C. D. Ladd, the fur buyer, has met the sealing men, but as yet have made no purchases. The local men are asking $15 apiece for their sealskins, and Mr. Barber is not disposed to pay that figure. A TIMES man had a pleasant chat with him this afternoon. He said:

"The sealing men here are not willing to let me have any of their skins at my offer, and are holding them with the intention of shipping to the October sales in London. I think that in asking $15 they really want more than the market can stand. We bought the spring catch or at least 4000 skins of it and I will say candidly that we did not think the catch would be as good. I do not think that I can do any business with them and will probably go home without buying any skins. Of course I am here to buy their goods, but I will say with all candor that they expect too much of the London market. The statement made recently that no Russian furs would be allowed at the sale in London on account of the cholera is wrong. The skins do not have to go through Asia and Europe. They will be shipped via San Francisco and across this continent as they were last year."

"This Treadwell seal fur combine of which so much has been said in the papers recently does not amount to anything, and will not control even a respectable fraction of the business of this country. It was simply the union of three retail eastern concerns which will dye only for their own use. The father of the present Treadwell made the dye, but it does not compare with the London dye. When new it looked like the London dye; then it begins to wear off. We have investigated the thing."

"The San Francisco sealers who went to the Japan coast did well this year, but I fear so many will go over next year that they will make it a poor hunting ground. Down in California we have ceased speculating on the outcome of the arbitration, the question is now so mixed that you can rest assured that matters pertaining to the question will remain as they are until after the election."

Rather too Phonetic.

An amusing story showing the Chinaman's idea of spelling by sound is told by a gentleman living on the Gorge road. The celestial's name is Ah Lee, and a letter from a Chinese friend to him came addressed "Ah Lee, God's Road, Victoria."

No Show for Them.

Grant brothers, of Tacoma, who wanted a chance to raise the San Pedro with their mysterious device, are much disappointed at their failure to get the chance. They sent a man to San Francisco, but he did not succeed in making the Southern Pacific people believe that there was anything in it.

Had a Good Time.

J. M. Maurice, who left for his home in England for military duty, four months ago, returned last evening and will for the next eighteen months make Victoria his home. He had a very enjoyable trip. Mr. Maurice, who was a leader in sports, outing and music and his circle of friends, will be welcomed back among them.

In Chambers.

His lordship Mr. Justice Drake today refused to appoint a receiver for the California Wine Co., on the ground that the plaintiff was only a servant of the company. He was, however, entitled to an account. Mr. J. P. Walls appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Eberts, of Eberts & Taylor, for the defence.

For the Hospital.

The following amounts have been received by the treasurer of the Jubilee Hospital as a result of collections in the churches on Hospital Sunday:—

Christ Church Cathedral	$146 20
St. James's	43 20
St. Paul's	30 40
St. John's	76 60
Salvation Army	30 00
	$326 40

Distinguished Americans Coming.

Secretary Noble, of Harrison's cabinet, and party who are touring the west, are expected here this afternoon on the U. S. revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott. They will remain only a short time, however. They left Port Townsend and called at Port Angeles, so, between the stop and the slow going Wolcott their delay in arriving may be understood.

Shipments to San Francisco.

There has been quite an increase in the exports from Victoria to San Francisco during the last five months, as shown by the books at the United States consulate office. Every steamer is taking down more or less freight of a miscellaneous character. The Umatilla will to-morrow take 40,000 pounds of rice from Hall, Ross & Co., 705 hides from H. Bornstein and a small shipment of tea by R. Ward & Co. The whole is valued at $2709.30.

Metchosin Harvest Home.

The residents of Metchosin have arranged to hold their Harvest Home on Thursday, September 1st. A good programme is said to have been provided, a dance, and supper at 8 p.m. will add to the evening's amusement. Proceeds from sale of work together with the 50 cents entrance (25 cents for ladies) will go towards the church fund. Several of Victoria's prominent citizens, including Messrs. Prior, Earle and Higgins, have promised to pay a visit to Metchosin. Carriages will leave the livery stables at 6 p.m. on Thursday.

Reading From Shakespeare.

Mr. E. Hamilton Sharp, professor of literature at Kioto University, Japan, will give a reading from Shakespeare at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at 8:30. After the reading Rev. G. Karney, of London, Eng., will deliver an address. There will be no charge for admission, and a treat is promised in both instances, as the gentlemen named are elocutionists of high attainments. In all probability Hon. J. H. Turner, M.P.P., will occupy the chair.

Off For England.

E. A. Powell, son of Dr. Powell, Rev. Percival Jenns and Lieut. W. C. H. S. Shring, R. N., leave for England in the morning. They will all go east over the C.P.R., but will travel by different boats across the Atlantic.

Seriously Indisposed.

U. S. Consul Levi Myers has been indisposed for a few days and has been unable to be at his office. He was not expected to be able to receive Secretary Noble, who was to arrive to-day on the U. S. revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott.

Flagship Officers to Entertain.

Invitations are out for an "at home" by Rear Admiral Hotham, C. B., Capt. Hedworth Lambton and officers of H. M.S. Warspite, on Tuesday, September 15 at the Royal Navy Recreation grounds, Esquimalt. There will be athletic sports from 3 to 8 p.m.

Uniform Rank, K. of P.

The Uniform Rank, K. of P., turned out last evening in command of Captain Stroud L. Redgrave, and held their first drill for the competition to be held at New Westminster. This evening they will parade the streets and be inspected by Col. A. A. Richardson.

Supposed to Have Been Drowned.

The 10-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Cartwright, of Sooke harbor, is missing and is supposed to have been drowned. He went out salmon fishing in a canoe and shortly afterwards the canoe was found floating bottom up. No traces of the missing boy have yet been found.

Prepared for a Crowd.

There will be a big crowd at the Odd Fellows' excursion to Seattle on Saturday, as a large number have already signified their intention of going over. The Seattle folks are making preparations to return the many courtesies received on the occasion of their visit here two weeks' ago.

Bound for the Orient.

The Empress of Japan sails for the land of the lady for whom she was named, to-morrow. She will have a good list and a heavy freight. Among the passengers from here are Mr. A. N. Nicholas who goes to Kobe, Miss M. J. Cartmel to Yokohama, and Mr. and Miss Kirk to Hong Kong.

Wants Damages.

Mr. L. H. Jenns, who was quarantined for almost two weeks by the Vancouver authorities, wants $2500 damages from the corporation of Vancouver. His solicitors, Messrs. Pemberton & Dumbleton, have notified the Vancouver authorities that if the matter is not settled legal steps will be taken.

Visiting Hotel Man.

D. L. Harbough, manager of the Rainier hotel at Seattle, accompanied by O. Harbaugh of Boston and F. H. Marvin of Tacoma, spent a few hours in the city yesterday afternoon. All three gentlemen expressed pleasure at the trip across the Sound and what they saw in Victoria during their stay here.

Easily Settled.

A colored man named Bennett yesterday complained to the provincial police, that Montero, a colored express driver, had obtained possession of a mare belonging to him, Bennett, and would not return it. The police investigated the case and advised Montero to return the mare to her rightful owner, which he very wisely did.

Off for Japan.

Miss Cartmel, who for the past two years has been connected with the rescue work of the Methodist church of this city, left for Vancouver this morning to take the Empress of Japan for the Orient, where she will continue to labor with a class of native "Bible women." She was last evening presented with an address and souvenir by the ladies with whom she has been working.

Death of Captain Wylde.

Captain Charles Wylde died at his residence, Kane street, last evening. The deceased was a native of Blagadan, Sydenham, Somersetshire, where he was born 67 years ago. He came to Victoria in the early sixties, and was for many years connected with the customs department, and latterly carried on business as a custom broker. He leaves a family of four daughters and a son.

Special Inducements.

The Puget Sound and Alaska steamship company will give reduced rates for the Tacoma exposition, which will be open during September, and also in connection with the N. P. R. R. to the Portland exposition, which begins on September 21. It is expected that quite a number of Victorians will visit the two expositions. There will be a Victoria day at the one in Tacoma, when an excursion will go from here.

Will Work Without Wages.

James Sanpierre was arraigned before Magistrate Macrae this morning charged with assaulting W.G. Bowman on the 10th inst. It was shown in evidence that Sanpierre went to Mr. Bowman on the day in question to collect wages due him, and when his demand was not satisfied he assaulted and severely beat the complainant. Sanpierre was convicted and sentenced to one month's imprisonment at hard labor. Two drunks were dismissed as it was their first offence.

DEMOCRAT AND JOURNALIST.

An Ohian Prominent in Politics, Newspaperdom and in the I.O.O.F.

Mr. J. L. McKinney, of Piqua, Ohio, one of the representatives of that state to the sixty-eighth session of the sovereign Grand Lodge I.O.O.F., at Portland, is in the city accompanied by his family, and is a guest at the Victoria. Mr. McKinney is a newspaper man and a Democrat. To a TIMES man, who saw him this morning, he said:

"I took plenty of time, as I wanted to see the northwest, and have been amply repaid. We are going to have a splendid session at Portland. It will be a large gathering and an important one to the order. The political pot is beginning to boil over our way, and I have great hopes of Mr. Cleveland's election. I think the people want him. His party wanted him and he broke the machine set up against him. The Republicans wanted Blaine, but he did not break the machine set up by President Harrison against him. My state has been a battle ground for a long time and we will have a great fight."

Mr. McKinney and his family were shown about the city this morning by Mr. Henry Waller, who will represent Victoria at the sovereign Grand Lodge. He says Mr. Waller's jewel will be the finest there, and that he will not show his and he once considered it pretty. He is a very affable gentleman, and has made friends of all he has met here. He leaves on the City of Kingston this evening and will go to Portland by easy stages so as to be there by Sept. 19.

Terrible Cruelty.

This morning W. Stamer, who is employed by E. B. Marvin & Co., brought to the attention of the police a case of shocking cruelty. Last evening when Mr. Stamer closed the warehouse facing on Turner & Beeton's wharf, he saw a sheep securely tied by all four legs on the dock, apparently in great agony. He at first felt inclined to release the animal, but thinking that the owners would shortly remove it, he left it as it was. This morning when he opened the warehouse he found that the unfortunate animal had died during the night, having apparently been worried to death by dogs. Mr. Stamer immediately informed the police who swore out an information requesting the owner of the sheep to appear in the police court on Thursday.

A Vacation That is no Vacation.

The appeal from the order of the Chief Justice restraining the Mercantile Agency from publishing alleged libellous circulars and posters came on to-day in the Divisional court before their lordships, Mr. Justice Walkem and Mr. Justice Drake. Mr. Belyea, of Belyea & Gregory, appeared for the agency and Mr. J. P. Walls for the plaintiff. Their lordships on ascertaining that the amount involved was the small sum of $9, thought that no harm could possibly be done either to the plaintiff or the defendant by having the hearing postponed until after the vacation. There was no civilized country in which a vacation was not granted, and if it was not found beneficial, it would not be granted. Here the vacation was not observed at all and this was unjust to lawyers with a large practice, as well as to the general public. This and two or three other cases were accordingly adjourned till the first court held after the 1st of October.

Merely a Government Blunder.

The money deducted from the June pay of the letter carriers and some of the clerks, which was afterwards allowed to them when a protest was sent in, has at length arrived from Ottawa, and will be paid over to the men probably to-night or to-morrow. The carriers receive $7.30 apiece, which was the amount taken from them, and while it is a small sum they feel glad at getting it. Among the public the greatest curiosity exists as to how even the champion aggregation of dunderheads at Ottawa could have committed such a gross and inexcusable blunder. Some say it was a piece of sheer stupidity of the ordinary Dominion Government description, others think it was a clumsy attempt to carry out some idiotic scheme of retrenchment.

The Pound By-law.

Mr. Ben Carter, of Esquimalt road, has determined to commence proceedings to recover the value of his horse which was sold by the pound keeper on the 10th inst. Mr. Carter says that his application to the council was not a "bluffing letter," but made in good faith. Mr. S. Perry Mills has informed him that he is prepared to go into court and seriously argue that the Provincial Legislature has not given power to the city council to pass a by-law conferring power on the pound keeper to sell horses, cattle, etc., if not claimed or redeemed within a certain time. The power to imponed and sell, Mr. Mills holds, cannot be legally exercised unless expressly given by the Provincial Legislature.

I.O.O.F. Excursion.

Tickets for the excursion are selling very rapidly and can be obtained from D. Hart, Government street, H. Waller, I.O.O.F. block, Douglas street and Gilmore & McCandlish, Johnson street. D. Hart's Palace cigar store will remain open on Thursday evening until 10 p.m. and Friday until 11 p.m., for the sale of tickets, as no tickets will be sold on the wharf.

Letting Up on the Mails.

The fumigation of mails for the Sound will cease to-morrow, unless orders to the contrary are received. It is not likely that the rule now in force will be kept any longer, however, as it is deemed unnecessary and has been for some time past.

Rabbi Schreiber Resigns.

News has been received from Spokane to the effect that Rabbi Schreiber had resigned his charge there and that his resignation had been accepted. He intends to leave that city, finding it impossible to bring about any settlement of the recent trouble there.

Sure to be Enjoyable.

The K. of P. social dance to be given to-morrow night, the occasion being the opening of New Castle Hall in the Dock building, promises to be a very pleasing affair. A competent committee has completed every detail of the preparatory work. The sale of tickets has been large and the attendance will therefore be good. A nice programme has been arranged. C. Wark will be floor manager, W. T. Whiteway, chairman and P. J. Nolan, secretary and treasurer.

MORE ENCOURAGING NEWS.

The Crops in the Okanagan Country Have Turned Out Splendidly.

Mr. M. Lumby, Government agent at Vernon, who is at present in the city, says the grain, hay and fruit crops in the Okanagan country are splendid. The hops planted last year near the Mission, just as a trial, have turned out better than the most sanguine had expected. They reached the top of fourteen foot poles and are bending over. Mr. Lumby predicts that next year the hop crops of the valley will be immense, as the soil is particularly suited to their growth. Hops were also planted at Vernon and did very well in spite of the fact that they were planted very late.

Both the large and small orchards are looking well, the crops are large and the fruit good. The grain like in other parts of the province is extraordinarlyy good, and the Enderby mill will have to run long and fast to grind all the wheat. The other grains will find a good market in Victoria.

In the southern part of the district the mines are showing up well. Mr. Lumby says they are the best in the province.

Settlers are coming in from all directions and around Vernon several residences are being erected by men of means. They plant orchards of from three to five acres and make very pretty homes. Other settlers are taking up larger tracts of land, some for fruit orchards and others for grain. In every way the district is pushing ahead.

THE FARMERS JUBILANT.

The Crops on the Fraser Better Than They Have Been for Ten Years.

Mr. D. R. Ker, of the Brackman & Ker Milling Co., returned last evening from a trip to the farming districts of the lower Fraser. "It is" said Mr. Ker to a TIMES reporter, "my tenth annual visit to the lower Fraser and on the whole the hay and grain crops are much better than I have seen them before. Last year the crops received a set back on account of the wet weather, but if the present fine weather continues for ten days and the farmers have a chance to get their present heavy crops in, they will more than make up for last year's loss, and of course they are in good spirits. There are some crops, said Mr. Ker, "that are beautiful and all are exceptionally good. Threshers are running all around and the farmers and helpers are kept rushing."

"How will the prices be this year?"

"The prices will be lower this year," replied Mr. Ker, "but this is not because of the increase of the crop, but on account of the low prices now ruling in Manitoba. The product of the province has not yet reached the demand, and, consequently, the prices are ruled in Manitoba."

The Shonan oats, seed of which were sent out last year by the Brackman & Ker Company, have turned out splendidly. These oats are far superior to any others for rolled oats and oatmeal, and as an inducement to raise them Mr. Ker is offering $2 a ton more for them than others. He is now making arrangements for new seeds for next year.

Before leaving New Westminster Mr. Ker got the company's branch at that place fairly started.

		$42,359 67
Balance deficit		$20,457 06

As the funds obtained under the by-law of 1890 are insufficient to meet the above payments, and the ratepayers have declined to sanction a further loan for sewerage purposes, the undersigned draws the attention of the Council to the necessity for immediate action, and points out that the work cannot proceed until the funds are forthcoming.

The undersigned also desires the Council to take into consideration what action shall be taken to pay the wages for the month of August as above recapitulated, in addition to which, no doubt, there are amounts due to the commissioners, the treasurer, and secretary.

ROBERT BEAVEN,
August 29, 1892. Mayor.

Mayor Beaven remarked that it was for the council to say what was to be done in this matter. Wednesday would be the end of the month and it would be necessary to do something as there would be no money to pay men.

Ald. Munn asked on what authority this $20,000 deficit was incurred; but the Mayor could not answer the question.

Ald. Hall thought it was strange the commissioners did not report on the matter.

Ald. Hunter did not think it would be right to criticise the commissioners until their report was in the hands of the council. The commissioners may have made provision whereby all the indebtedness would be paid. Certainly the Terra Cotta Co. should know what they were doing, and he understood they were not to press their claim for payment till such time as the city was prepared to settle it.

Ald. Munn concurred in Ald. Hunter's opinion that the commissioners should be heard from before further enquiring into the matter. It was the duty of the commissioners to see that the contract was properly carried out.

Ald. Lovell in view of the fact that there was no money to pay employees, moved that all the officers and employees on the sewerage works receive notice to quit work.

Ald. McKillican could not see how Mr. Mohun could be discharged till the contract is handed over to the city, and the work reported on. Ald. Baker also concurred in this view.

Ald. Styles held that it was Mr. Mohun's duty to examine the work and report to the city, and he could not see why he did not report. He thought Mr. Mohun should be notified to inspect the work at once and report if it is acceptable or not. The board would then know how to act.

Ald. Bragg also agreed with this view of the question.

Ald. Baker moved in amendment to Ald. Lovell's motion that all the employees except Mr. Mohun be discharged. The sewers had not been tested, and no one knew whether they were carried on in a workmanlike manner or not, he said.

Ald. Hunter seconded this motion, with the understanding that the council would not be responsible for his salary. He was satisfied that Mr. Mohun would work for a month without salary, as he was almost wedded to the work, and it was his chief desire to make this system a success. He did not think there was the necessity of a report till the work was done. In his experience contractors generally wanted to hand over work long before the inspector was prepared to receive it; then there was a complaint a short time ago that Mr. Mohun was making too many reports.

Ald. Hall said a great deal of credit could be given to Mr. Mohun for the defeat of the sewerage by-law, because he did not make a test of the work and report.

Ald. Munn explained that when the work was first suggested the citizens would not vote for the sewerage scheme till commissioners were appointed to carry it out. These commissions he thought should have been allowed to carry out the whole work. They were business men and he did not think they would employ men if they could not pay them. They had power to appoint an engineer or remove him and he thought the council should have the matter with them. He favored referring the matter to the commissioners.

Ald Hunter held that the officer could not be discharged without thirty days' notice according to the by-law.

The Mayor stated that the Municipal Act had changed this by-law, but even were it necessary to give thirty days' notice there was the more necessity to act.

The amendment carried on the following division:—For Ald. Hunter, Munn, Bragg, Baker, Hall, Styles and McKillican. Against—Ald. Lovell and the Mayor.

His Worship—What is to be done with regard to August salaries?

Ald. Hunter—I think the commissioners should settle this difficulty.

Ald. McKillican—Let the commissioners shoulder the responsibility.

Ald. Styles—How do you propose to deal with the matter, Mr. Mayor?

Ald. Bragg thought the commissioners should have seen that the work was stopped when money went short. The matter was allowed to drop without further action being taken.

CURTAIL EXPENSES.

The committee to whom was referred the question of defraying board of health expenses recommended a general curtailment of civic expenditures till the accounts are paid. The report was received and adopted.

SHORTER HOURS.

The Library committee reported that in view of the release of the assistant librarian the time of keeping the library open be changed to from 10 a.m. to 12 m., and from 2 to 7 p.m., with the exception of Saturday when the hours of afternoon be from 2 to 9 o'clock.

Ald. Baker suggested that the hours should be from 10 a.m. to 12 m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. to accommodate the working classes.

Mayor Beaven remarked that the people by their vote did not seem to care how the library was conducted.

The report was received and adopted without change.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BY-LAW.

On motion Ald. Hunter's by-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by local improvements was read a first time.

In moving the second reading of the by-law Ald. Hunter stated that the loan system was antiquated and the local improvement system was now in vogue in the leading cities of America. Late experience showed that loan by-laws were not in favor. Then the loan system entailed irregularities in the paying of interest and sinking funds, which would not exist where the local improvement system applied, as all money spent would benefit only those who paid the assessment.

The by-law passed its second reading and the council went into committee of the whole. The by-law was read and passed clause by clause, and several slight amendments made. Section 10 referring to the manner of assessment, was allowed to stand over, and the committee rose and reported progress.

The council then adjourned.

DECIDE NOT TO CHANGE.

The Hospital Directors Will Manage the Hospital as Heretofore.

The directors of the Jubilee Hospital met last evening to discuss the proposals made at the last meeting by Mr. E. C. Baker for the management of the institution by committees. There were present, Joshua Davies, president, in the chair, and Messrs. Chas. Hayward, G. Brown, Thos. Shotbolt, H. D. Helmcken, Geo. Byrnes, E. A. McQuade, D. M. Eberts, A. C. Flummerfelt, B. Gordon, E. C. Baker, Jas. Yates, Alex. Wilson and W. M. Chudley.

Mr. Chudley thought that it was not necessary for the representatives of the press to be present at every meeting, and he brought forward a resolution to that effect.

Mr. B. Gordon said that the press had always published fair reports and left out anything requested.

The president said he could not allow discussion of any business but that for which the meeting was called, and the matter was therefore dropped and Mr. Baker's proposal considered.

Mr. Hayward, with the object of burning the principle of the object up, moved that standing committees be appointed.

The motion was lost and the meeting adjourned.

Their Annual Meeting.

There was a very large attendance at the annual meeting of the congregation Emmanu-El held at the synagogue last evening. From the tenor of the meeting every indication points to a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty between the Rabbi and the congregation, and it was decided that the services during the coming new year will be conducted on the same basis as heretofore. The following officers were elected: President, D. Hart; vice-president, W. Wolff, treasurer, I. Braverman; secretary, A. Lewis; and trustees, E. Reinhardt, F. Frank and F. Landsberg. On motion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. E. J. Salmon who, for five years, acted as secretary for the congregation.

There's a good deal of guarantee business in the store keeping of to-day. It's too excessive. Or too reluctant. Half the time it means nothing. Words—only words.

This offer to refund the money, or to pay a reward, is made under the hope that you won't want your money back, and that you won't claim the reward, Of course.

So, whoever is honest in making it, and works—not on his own reputation alone, but through the local dealer, whom you know, must have something he has faith in back of the guarantee. The business wouldn't stand a year without it.

What is lacking is confidence. Back of that, what is lacking is that clear honesty which is above the "average practice."

The Vacation of the Rich Man.

In view of the fact that the vacation habit is growing to be a confirmed one among the people of the United States, and has already served to aid the early closing movement noticeably and commendably, it is somewhat surprising that the great body of Americans as yet do not fully comprehend the real lesson of the doctrine of rest. Many business men, who are fully able to secure a good four weeks of real idleness, take their families to the north shore or some other spot, within a few leagues of Boston, and go through a mere form of vacation; but they get little rest out of that arrangement. They daily hurry to and from their offices. Some of them club together to hire a special train to take them the more rapidly. Handsome equipages, a bothersome staff of servants and a ponderous amount of "style" are maintained.

The thing which they call vacation may be luxurious and pleasing to the senses, but it is not rest. The beautiful lawns, the gorgeous gardens, the swift but crowded yacht are delightful things in themselves, but they claim too much attention, and the money spent upon them may be more unwisely put out than the few dollars that would serve to carry any one to the heart of the Maine forests. The restless American energy apparently demands some outlet every hour, even in sports, and the very idea of complete quiet and utter abandonment to rest is strange gospel to the majority of those who rush from the crowded city to swelter under the noonday sun in the country.—Boston Advertiser.

The First Oil Company.

The first oil company was formed in New Haven to operate for oil below Titusville, on Oil creek, Pennsylvania, and E. L. Drake became the superintendent in 1852. He conceived the idea of drilling for oil and had great difficulty in reaching bedrock. He drove an iron pipe thirty-six feet to the rock and then drilled through the pipe. Aug. 28, 1859, he struck oil at the depth of 69½ feet, and it yielded at first twenty-five barrels a day. The oil was sold at fifty-five cents a gallon. A great deal of excitement was created and thousands of people flocked to Oil creek.

The whole was then roofed with a second basket shaped structure, likewise of tule fibers, stretched across. The entire workmanship was most perfect, and that small canopy top proved very effective in shutting off the sun's rays.—San Diego Cor. Christian Union.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BY-LAW.

Alderman Hunter's By-Law Passes Its Second Reading Last Night.

Section Ten of the By-Law Laid Over for Future Consideration.

At last night's meeting of the City Council Ald. Hunter's Local Improvement By-Law was read a second time, section 10 being laid over. The following is the text of it:

A by-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by local improvement.

Whereas it is provided in the Municipal Act of 1892 that the Council of a city municipality may pass by-laws for assessing real property benefitted by certain classes of local improvements;

And whereas it is expedient that the provisions of said Act in respect to such local improvements should be applied to the city of Victoria;

Therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the said city enacts as follows:

1. The cost of constructing the works and improvements mentioned in section 273 of the said Municipal Act shall be assessed upon the real property benefitted thereby.

2. The said Municipal Council may by resolution determine and specify what works or improvements it is desirable to have carried out.

3. On the passage of such resolution, and after it shall have been entered in the minutes of the Council, copies thereof shall be transmitted by the clerk to the City Engineer and City Assessor.

4. On the receipt by the City Engineer of a copy of the said resolution, it shall be his duty to proceed at once to ascertain the said works or improvements and to make, and certify as correct, a plan and description thereof, and to make an estimate of the expenses or cost thereof, and to ascertain, determine and show on said plan what real property will be immediately benefitted by the proposed improvement, and the City Engineer and the City Assessor shall after such plan has been made, and certified, conjointly ascertain and determine the proportions in which the assessment is to be made on the various portions of the real property so benefitted, and shall make a joint report of all such matters to the said Council, which report, when approved of and adopted by the said Council, shall be entered by the City Clerk in a book to be kept for that purpose, to be called the "Local Improvement Book," and a copy of the plan aforesaid shall be made by the said Engineer and filed in the office of the City Clerk.

5. The said report of the City Engineer and City Assessor shall state:

(a) What real property will be immediately benefitted by the proposed improvement.

(b) The probable lifetime of the improvement.

(c) An estimate of the probable cost of the proposed improvement and the amount thereof which will be assessed against the property immediately benefitted.

(d) The proportions in which the assessment is to be made on the various portions of the real property so benefitted.

6. It shall be the duty of the Sanitary or Sewerage Engineer, when so instructed by the Council or Sewerage Commissioners to perform the duties above set forth as being required of the City Engineer.

7. In ascertaining and determining the cost of laying, making, enlarging, or prolonging or constructing any common sewer, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall estimate the cost of construction of branch sewers to the line of the street and include the cost of such branch sewers in estimating the assessment for such sewers, or common sewers and reporting to the Council thereon.

8. In any case where in order to afford an outlet for the sewerage and drainage of real property other than that fronting or abutting on the street in which a sewer shall hereafter be constructed of a larger capacity than that which is, in the opinion of the said City Engineer and Assessor, required for the efficient sewerage and drainage of the real property fronting or abutting upon the street, then in every case the said City Engineer and Assessor, shall estimate, determine and report to the Council what amount of special assessment should in their opinion be imposed on the other real property benefitted by the construction of such sewer or drain.

9. When a vacant space intervenes between the line of a street and a building into which or under which a sewer pipe is to be taken, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall ascertain, estimate, determine and report as aforesaid the cost of laying the sewer pipe across such vacant space and under such building, and shall assess the cost of same against such real property so connected with such sewer.

10. In all cases when a main sewer is or shall be laid in any street or through any lot or land, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall ascertain and determine the cost per foot frontage of such main sewer upon the lots (except corner lots) on each side of the portion of the said street or on the lands on each side of the sewer in which or through which the said sewer shall from time to time be laid. In case any such lots are corner lots, the assessment shall be one-half of the said rate, and the said engineer and assessor shall so report.

11. In case when it is the duty of the engineer and assessor to ascertain and determine the proportion of assessment for local improvements, works and services on corner lots, triangular or other irregular shaped pieces of lands situated at the intersections or junctions of streets, the said engineer and assessor shall provide an equitable mode of assessment, by having due regard to the situation, value and superficial area of such lots as compared with adjoining lots and pieces of land accessible for such improvements, works and services, and may charge and assess the amount of any allowance made on any such lot or piece of land on the real property fronting on the improvements or assume the same as a portion of the municipality's share of the improvements as may seem equitable and just.

12. In ascertaining and determining the assessment to be made on lands on either side of a street, lane or alley, which are from any cause unfit for building purposes as compared with the building lots fronting on said street, lane or alley, the said engineer and assessor shall in all cases determine in what proportion the assessment for any local improvement shall be borne by the lands on each side of such street, lane or alley.

13. When the local improvement shall consist of the construction or repair of any bridge or culvert on any street, lane or alley for the opening up or extending of any street, lane or alley for the more immediate convenience or benefit of any locality, and if from any cause it shall seem to the said Engineer and Assessor inequitable to charge the whole of the cost of improvement on the lands fronting thereon the said Engineer and Assessor shall determine what lands are benefitted by such work or improvements and the proportion in which the cost thereof shall be assessed against the land so benefitted.

14. So soon as the report of the City Engineer and Assessor shall have been received and adopted by the Council and entered by the Clerk in the Local Improvement Book as aforesaid, the Clerk shall, save and except as provided in the following section, cause the said report or a necessary part thereof, or any other sufficient notice describing the nature of the improvement and the assessment proposed to be levied therefor, to be inserted in at least one newspaper published in the municipality for a period of fifteen days.

15. No such published notice as aforesaid shall be given when the proposed improvement consists of the construction of branch sewers to connect any real property with a common sewer, or connecting any building with a branch sewer, or making any necessary house or building connections with such sewer, or of laying a sewer pipe across any vacant space and under any building when such vacant space intervenes between a line of street and such building. In all such cases the cost of same shall be payable and paid by the owner of such real property so connected with the sewer, and shall be a charge upon such real property, and if any damage be done to this portion of the sewer or its connections or its fittings, either by neglect or otherwise, the cost of the same shall be paid by the owner of the real property, and shall be charged as aforesaid, whenever the Council authorize and have made the repairs to the same.

16. If within such period of fifteen days, as aforesaid, any petition is presented against any improvement or assessment of which notice has been duly advertised, as provided, it shall the duty of the Assessor to ascertain and finally determine in accordance with Sub-section 30, of Section 273, of the Municipal Act, 1892, whether the said petition is signed by a majority of the owners of such real property, respecting at least one half in value of said petition, and to report the same to the Council.

17. Should such petition, as aforesaid, not be presented to the Council, or should the Assessor certify on any petition that may have been presented that said petition is not signed by a majority of the owners of such real property as may be affected by the proposed improvement, and representing one half in value of such property, then and in each case the Council shall proceed with the proposed improvement under such terms and conditions as to the payment of the cost of such improvement, as the Council may by by-law, in that behalf, regulate and determine.

18. This by-law may be cited as the "Local Improvement By-law," passed the Municipal Council the —— day of ——, 1892. Reconsidered and finally passed the —— day of ——, 1892.

A GENTLEMAN SPEAKS ABOUT A BLESSING WHICH CANADIANS HAVE IN THEIR MIDST.

Quite recently, two well-know Montreal gentlemen were discussing some of the great advantages which the Canadians of to-day enjoy, and which were unknown in the country ten years ago. Amongst the advantages mentioned and discussed was one which makes it almost needless to call in the services of a physician. "Formerly," said one to the other, "when a man suffered from sleeplessness, dyspepsia, indigestion, or poor circulation, it was necessary to remain in the hands of the doctor for quite a long period; sometimes a cure was effected; oftener the unfortunate victim lingered on in suffering, a burden to himself and friends. At the present time such sufferers have a safe and sure cure in Paine's Celery Compound at very little expense."

"I speak," said the gentleman, "from personal experience and from a knowledge of what Paine's Celery Compound has done for myself and friends, and I consider it the greatest blessing ever given to Canadians."

Can any stronger recommendation be looked for than the above? Everyday experience demonstrates the truth of the assertions made. The best testimonials ever submitted to our Canadian people come from users of Paine's Celery Compound. Those who have testified are with us and around us, and have no object in misleading their friends and the public. Every statement of cure rings with sterling honesty, and is calculated to inspire hope and courage in the hearts of the most despondent. No wonder that Paine's Celery Compound has the approval of all classes of men and women. It promises cure and never fails; it assures the sufferer of new life and never disappoints.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Matters of Interest Going Forward in the Sporting World, Here and Elsewhere.

THE TURF.

AMONG THE EQUINE BEAUTIES.

The last day's racing has the usual number of races, viz., three.

The first is trotting and pacing for the 2:40 class with three entries as follows: Primero, Dart and Storm.

On paper Primero should win this. Dart is known to be a true game one, but the knowing ones think that he is overmatched in this race. Storm will have something to say before the race is ended. He is going fast and strong in his work.

The second race is the mile and a quarter dash, running, with three entries: Rifton, Murphy and Marcelle. This should produce an extra fine contest, and Marcelle should win. Rifton is known to be a rare good one at a mile and under and this being 1¼ mile may be a little too far for him. Murphy will have something good to offer before the wire is reached, but Marcelle is showing such good form in her work that, barring accidents, the race is at her mercy.

The last race of the meeting then follows, the B. C. Derby with seven entries: Ada, Victoria, Ilex, Rose, Amphion, Buttercup and Rex.

It is reported that Amphion has been withdrawn from the race; at all events, he has been taken away from the track. There are now four of the above named animals at the tracks Victoria, Ilex, Rose and Rex: all doing more or less work. Victoria is showing up very well and has greatly improved since her appearance in the Queen's Plate last May. While not looked for as a sure winner, she will make some of them run very hard to beat her. Rose is without a doubt the nattiest mover on the grounds; she shows speed and plenty of it, but some fancy the route is rather long; she will take a lot of beating, though, before the race is finished. Rex met with an accident the first night of his arrival and has done only very slow work since. It is doubtful whether he can be brought to a race; the time is so short and he is quite lame in one front leg. Ilex will start as a top-heavy favorite, and rightly so, she is in fine fix and in able hands. She will also be well ridden, and barring accidents, she can't lose it. She is doing great guns in her work and moves like a whirlwind. She showed last spring in the Queen's Plate that she was a genuine race horse when she led the entire field for over a mile, and only collapsed on account of being short of work. This time she will be as fit as an animal can be made, and should win, hands down, in a gallop. Of course, there are two more to appear on the scene: Buttercup and Ada, both from Kamloops and due any day now; but they are maidens and they will have to be almost world beaters to go out and down such an animal as Ilex in their maiden race.

Storm, which was entered for the stallion race, picked up a nail on Sunday and will probably be lame for the race.

RECORD LOWERED.

The Canadian half mile record for yearlings has been reduced on the Charlottetown, P.E.I., track from 1.34 to 1.24 by Brighton, owned by G. Dockendorff. This performance has not been much surpassed by the great horsemen of the United States.

THE GYMNASIUM.

KEEPING THEIR HANDS IN.

Athletic matters are being kept alive at the James Bay Athletic Association by a few energetic members who enjoy a little sparring and gymnastic work in the gymnasium in the evenings. Some very pretty bouts are to be witnessed in the several classes among the boxers, and as these encounters are conducted in a proper manner, rough play being strictly discountenanced by the management of the club, healthy recreation and capital sport result. There is every probability that some one versed in the mysteries of the manly art will instruct the members in the same this winter. At the James Bay, most of the members are fond of this sort of exercise, there being a marked absence among them of the mawkish, sickly sentimentality that frowns on every sport but croquet and whist. It is whispered that the season may be formally opened some time in October, with a reception and exhibition in the "gym."

BASEBALL.

LAWYERS AND PRINTERS.

The powers of the press and the law were in opposition on the diamond at Caledonia Park this afternoon. Schultz and Duck, of the old Amity team, formed the battery for the limbs of the law, while Matthews and Faeler were the principals for the printers. The game was in progress at the time of going to press.

Capt. Gouge, of the V. A. C. baseball team is trying to arrange a match with the James Bay athletics for Saturday. The Athletics have been practicing and are confident they will win if the match comes off.

THE OAR.

THE CHAMPION DOUBLES.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—The final deposit on behalf of O'Connor and Hanlan and Gaudaur and Hosmer has been made with a temporary stakeholder, for a double-scull championship race for $5000 a side, to be rowed at Rochester on Monday next. O'Connor leaves for Rochester to-night. Hanlan follows on Wednesday.

THE RING.

DAWSON AND RYAN MATCHED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., 30.—The Australian ligheweight George Dawson, last night signed an agreement to fight Tommy Ryan of Chicago for $5000, at 140 pounds, to weigh in at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight, which is expected to occur in November before the California Athletic club.

CRICKET.

THE GAME IN SAANICH.

A cricket match was played at North Saanich on the 15th inst., between the local club and South Saanich. The north suffered a defeat to the tune of 56 runs. The score was received for publication last week but was inadvertantly omitted.

LACROSSE.

THEY'LL LIKELY BE ACCOMMODATED.

The Westminster intermediates have invited the Victoria intermediates players to visit Westminster during the exhibition to take part in a match for medals to be given by the Agricultural society. An effort will be made to accommodate the Royal City club.

PERSONAL.

It is announced that tracklaying on the Spokane Northern railway between Northport and Little Dalles began yesterday. This division of the line is to be built at once.

The social to be given by Seghers Council, Y.M.I. Friday evening is pretty sure to be a pleasing success. The Institute has a reputation for giving very enjoyable parties, and will doubtless preserve its laurels this time. The arrangements are complete and a good attendance is looked for.

LIMA'S GREAT MARKET.

A Million Dollar Emporium for the Capital of Peru.

From the San Francisco Examiner.]

George B. Birrell and Edward A. Rix of the firm of Rix & Birrell of this city have had completed plans for a Spanish market building which they are to erect at Lima for the Government of Peru at a cost of $982,000. It will be a steel structure throughout, with terra-cotta facings and a roof of Spanish tiles, alternating to some extent with opaque glass tiles similar in form. Not less than 14,000 of these glass tiles will be used, and in consequence the court below will have a flood of light. All the steel—about 9000 tons being required—will be manufactured in Belgium at about 40 per cent. less cost than in the United States, and under the supervision of an expert agent to be sent there by the firm. The manufactured steel will then be shipped to Lima and be put into the building under the supervision of the same agent. The terra cotta facings will be made near Lima at a plant to be specially constructed for the purpose. The foundations will be of concrete, and it will require the work of about 600 men for three years to construct the huge market-place in the centre of the city and close to the Calle Esperados, Lima's great business thoroughfare.

The Spanish style of architecture will be strictly adhered to, with the two innovations of a second story and a tower 182 feet in height. The building will be 388 feet square, occupying the entire plaza, on which there is now an old market or shed. There will be the regular Spanish colonade all around the first floor, and the inclosed or covered sidewalks will be about 45 feet wide. Opening on to them will be a large number of tiendas or stores, each 65x35 feet, where the cheaper class of merchandise will be sold. These tiendas also open in the rear to a large open space or court. In the centre of the latter is a large square space for a fountain and for an exhibit of of Peru's tropical plants. The space between the fountain square and the tiendas will be devoted to the sale of vegetables, fruits and provisions. There are also four main entrances, eight elevators and tracks for the conveyance of merchandise in small care.

The second story, which will be a novelty in South American architecture, will also have tiendas immediately above those on the ground floor. The cheaper grades of merchandise will also be sold in them. Extending across the open court will be walks or bridges on a level with the second-story floor, to enable the poor people and the haughty cocineras or cooks of the weathy to go from store to store.

The 182-foot tower will rise from out the centre of the building on its own foundation of concrete. It will be square in form up to about 30 feet above the roof. Each corner of the square will then be surmounted by a small tower, while from its centre will extend the main tower, tapering at the top. On the roof of this square will also be many rare tropical plants. The facing of the tower will be of terra cotta, and its long winding stairways will be lighted with electricity, there being two 250 horse power plants to furnish both arc and incandescent lights for the building. At intervening distances along the outside of the tower there will be bunches of incandescent lights, one bunch or group of lights being for an immense clock and its sixteen chiming bells.

It is to be essentially a market place for the poorer people, and the provision dealers and shop-keepers deal directly with the Government in paying rent or licenses, which are high, for space in buildings of this class.

Everybody in England and United States drinks it. Thousands in Canada are drinking it now. A delicious summer drink is Montserrat pure Lime Fruit Juice. Not a trace of alcohol. When you are mopping your perspiring brow, and wondering if there would be any relief in a "smile," resolve upon a drink of Montserrat. That will make a new man of you. 3 f
